I. INTRODUCTION

The purpose of the Privacy Act (the Act) is to extend the present laws of Canada that protect the privacy of individuals with respect to personal information about themselves held by a government institution and that provide individuals with a right of access to that information. The Act also puts forward the provisions for the collection, use, disclosure, and retention of personal information by government institutions. The protection and promotion of Canadians' privacy rights and the safeguarding of personal information is a priority for, and taken seriously by, the Royal Canadian Mint (the Mint).

As a federal Crown corporation, the Mint is subject to the Act. This Annual Report provides an account of the Mint's administration of the Act during the period of April 1, 2024 to March 31, 2025. The Mint is also reporting on behalf of its wholly owned subsidiary, RCMH-MRCF Inc. (refer to B. below). The report therefore accounts for the RCMH-MRCF Inc.'s administration of the Act for the reporting period.

The Annual Report is prepared and tabled in Parliament in accordance with section 72 of the Act.

A. ROYAL CANADIAN MINT

The Mint, originally a branch of Britain's Royal Mint, struck the Dominion's first domestically produced coin in 1908, and became a wholly Canadian institution in 1931. A fully commercial Crown corporation since 1969, the Mint operates for profit and its scope of activities extends throughout the world. It is classified as a Schedule III-II Corporation under the Financial Administration Act, the category reserved for organizations that conduct commercial operations and are self-sufficient. The Mint reports to Parliament through the Minister of Finance.

Subsection 3(2) of the Royal Canadian Mint Act establishes the mandate of the Mint "to mint coins in anticipation of profit and to carry out other related activities." The Mint produces and arranges for the production and supply of coins of the currency of Canada. It also produces circulation and non-circulation coins for foreign countries, produces and markets bullion coins, operates gold and silver refining, and conducts coin-related manufacturing and commercial activities that generate profit.

The Mint markets its goods and services throughout Canada and in many countries around the world. Its continued success and vitality as a corporation depend upon its ability to respond quickly to market demands and compete and position itself in international and domestic markets. As a profit-making Crown corporation, the Mint operates like a business while serving a public policy purpose, which is the production and distribution of Canadian circulation coins.

B. RCMH-MRCF INC.

As part of its business development initiative, the Mint set up a wholly-owned subsidiary, RCMH-MRCF Inc., which was incorporated under the Canada Business Corporations Act in June 2002. This holding company was formed to help the Mint improve efficiency, manage the cost of products, and increase profitability.

RCMH-MRCF Inc. has been operationally inactive since December 31, 2008 and does not employ staff. Its officers and directors are employees of the Mint. As a wholly-owned subsidiary, RCMH-MRCF Inc. is subject to the Act.

II. ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

The access to information and privacy (ATIP) function is part of the Corporate Affairs Section within the Corporate and Legal Affairs Division of the Mint. The Director, Regulatory Affairs (Compliance), who is also the designated ATIP Coordinator, oversees the implementation of the Access to Information Act and Privacy Act and ensures compliance with the legislation within the Mint and its wholly-owned subsidiary, RCMH-MRCF Inc. An operational team (ATIP Office) and privacy program team (Privacy Office) report to the Director and carry out key responsibilities in support of the Mint's ATIP compliance obligations.

During the reporting period, the ATIP Office was comprised of an ATIP Manager and ATIP Analyst, dedicated to the management of operational activities related to requests under both the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act. The ATIP Coordinator held duties pertaining to files other than ATIP and, accordingly, a portion of the Coordinator's time dedicated to the Act.

The Senior Program Manager, Privacy has responsibility for the day-to-day management of the Mint's Privacy Office and corporate privacy program. The incumbent fosters a culture of privacy by leading and supporting the horizontal coordination and integration of privacy requirements and best practices in organizational activities, initiatives and decisions, developing and promoting user-friendly tools and resources, and delivering employee training and building awareness. The Privacy Office provides subject matter expertise and professional advisory services on all aspects of privacy compliance and privacy-related queries and issues for the organization, including Privacy Impact Assessments (PIAs), privacy by design guidance and privacy breach management.

During the reporting period, resources were supplemented by the services of three part-time consultants who assisted with request processing and privacy policy and compliance matters.

The Mint was not party to any service agreements under section 73.1 of the Act.

III. DELEGATION ORDERS

As head of the institution, the President & CEO of the Mint has overall accountability for the Act. To assist in the discharge of the President & CEO's responsibilities, select powers, duties, and functions have been formally delegated to certain positions per the organizations' respective Delegation Orders (see Attachments 1 and 2).

IV. PERFORMANCE 2024-2025

Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat (TBS) requires the preparation of a Statistical Report, presenting data on the processing of requests for personal information under the Act by the Mint as well as other privacy policy and compliance activities in 2024-25. The completed Statistical Report was submitted to TBS in May 2025 as required. This section provides a narrative summary and interpretation of that data and, where possible, a three-year trend analysis is provided. There is no statistical information to report for RCMH-MRCF Inc. The Mint also processes informal privacy requests from employees and customers as requested and as appropriate.

In 2024-25, the Mint's compliance rate was slightly lower than the previous reporting period due to the complex nature of 2 requests processed. As part of the Mint's digital transformation journey, during the reporting period, the Mint configured and implemented a Government of Canada-approved request processing software (AMANDA enterprise case management solution ["AMANDA"]). It is expected the use of AMANDA will create more opportunity for request processing efficiency and compliance gains.

The following table presents an overview of the key data for the Mint (subsequent charts below provide more information).

	2024-	2023-	2022-

A. ROYAL CANADIAN MINT

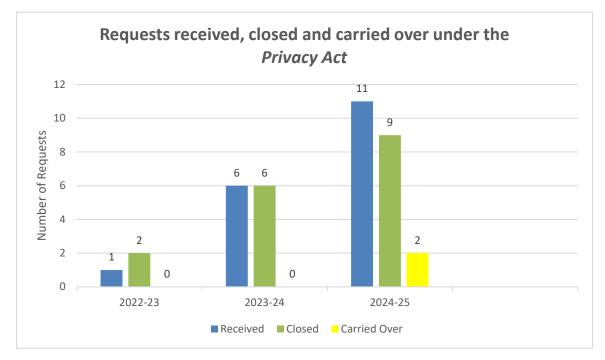

During the 2024-25 reporting period, the Mint processed a total of 11 formal requests, all of which were new. Of the 11 requests, 9 were closed during the reporting period and 2 were carried over to 2025-26 within the legislated timeframe.

Seven of the nine completed requests were responded to within the legislated timeframe (i.e. 77.77%), compared to 5 in 2023-24 (i.e. 83%) and 1 in 2022-23 (i.e. 50%).

The receipt of 11 formal requests under the Act in the reporting period represents an increase from the 6 requests received in 2023-24, and a significant increase from 1 in 2022-23.

The following chart illustrates yearly trends in requests received, closed, and carried over:

Disposition of Closed Requests

Of the 9 requests closed during this reporting period, 2 were disclosed in part (i.e. some information was exempt from disclosure). For the other 7 requests, 2 had no responsive records, and 5 were abandoned. Accordingly, 22% of requests were "disclosed in part".

Extensions

Of the 9 requests closed during the reporting period, 1 request incurred a time extension of 30 days. The extension for this request was taken pursuant to both section 15(a)(i) of the Act due to interference to operations, and 15(a)(ii) for internal consultations.

Exemptions and Exclusions Used

For the 2 "disclosed in part" requests, the following exemptions were invoked:

- Section 25 (safety of individuals)
- Section 26 (personal information about another individual)

Section 27 (solicitor-client privilege)

No requests were subject to any exclusions.

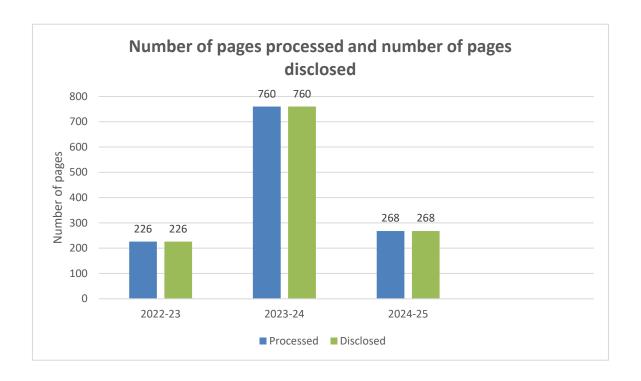

Size and Complexity

For the 9 requests closed in the reporting period, the Mint processed 268 pages, a significant decrease from the 2023-24 reporting period (760 pages), and a slight increase from 2022-23 (226 pages). It should be noted that the number of pages processed does not include the number of pages that were examined to determine relevancy and identify duplicates, which is much greater, and does not reflect the complexity of review with certain requests.

For 1 completed request, 89 minutes of video footage were also processed and disclosed.

Correction of Personal Information

No request for correction of personal information was received during the current and previous two reporting periods

Consultations from Other Institutions

No consultation from another government institution or organization was received during the current and previous two reporting periods.

Consultations on Cabinet Confidences

No consultation was carried out with the Privy Council Office on section 70 (Cabinet confidences) of the Act during the current and previous two reporting periods.

Complaints

There were no outstanding complaints from the previous reporting period and no complaints were received. As such, there were no active complaints as of the last day of the reporting period.

B. RCMH-MRCF INC.

During the current and previous two reporting periods, the Mint's subsidiary RCMH-MRCF Inc. did not receive any informal or formal requests, requests for consultation from other government institutions or organizations, or complaints.

C. RESOURCES RELATED TO THE PRIVACY ACT

The cost of administering the Mint's privacy program for this reporting period is estimated at $289,556, which included employee salaries and the cost for three consultants to assist with request processing and ad hoc privacy policy matters, including PIA reviews. This expenditure represents a minor decrease of 2.11% from last reporting period. Costs do not include the resources required by other areas of the Corporation to search for responsive records and provide recommendations concerning disclosure or non-disclosure of the information.

In terms of resources, the number of person years dedicated to privacy activities was 2.189.

V. TRAINING AND AWARENESS

In this reporting period, the Mint continued to provide its mandatory corporate-wide privacy awareness and training e-module. Because the training is a rolling requirement applicable to new employees as they are hired at the Mint, tracking completion is an ongoing effort and gap reports are periodically provided to the Privacy Office by the Learning and Development team such that the appropriate follow-up with employees and their people leaders can occur.

This training offering fulfills a key compliance requirement under Appendix B of the Directive on Personal Information Requests and Correction of Personal Information, which requires employees to be made aware of policies, procedures and legal responsibilities under the Act. Furthermore, it supports the Mint's privacy policy, which states that employees in all positions and levels shall participate in training that is current and relevant to their specific positions, duties and level of responsibility. The course is integrated into the Mint's onboarding process for new employees, and its plain language and user-friendly design does not presume any previous privacy training by participants.

Training on privacy matters also occurs throughout the year on an as-needed basis via meetings and briefings with employees in different functional areas working on projects and initiatives that have privacy compliance components, requests for personal information, as well as in response to areas facing new issues and questions in the protection of personal information. For example, in June 2024, the Senior Program Manager, Privacy provided privacy awareness training to members of the Mint's Corporate Policy Health and Safety Committee. This training focused on the key principles of the Privacy Act including the definition of personal information, the "need-to-know" principle, and common safeguards and controls to mitigate privacy risk in the workplace.

Communication and awareness on privacy matters also occurs via the Mint's internal e-publication for staff entitled The Source. In January 2025, the Privacy Office developed an article for all-staff promoting International Data Privacy Week. The article reinforced the theme of thinking about privacy early on in both our personal and professional lives, and communicated the role of the Privacy Office as a partner in protecting personal information at the Mint.

The Senior Program Manager, Privacy, actively engages in ongoing professional development to stay abreast of current privacy trends, regulatory requirements, and best practices. This includes participation in specialized courses and training sessions offered by a leading privacy professional association, prominent law firms, and the Canada School of Public Service. These sessions help strengthen the organization's corporate privacy program.

VI. POLICIES, GUIDELINES, AND PROCEDURES

No new policies, guidelines, or procedures were developed during the reporting period, and there were no new collection(s) or new consistent use(s) of the Social Insurance Number.

VII. INITIATIVES AND PROJECTS TO IMPROVE PRIVACY

Sustainability: During the reporting period, the Mint's privacy obligations continued to be integrated with the important sustainability work being led by the Mint's Impact Office. Environmental Social Governance (ESG) is foundational to the Mint's governance processes and integrated into business performance and accountability. The Mint recognizes privacy as an important accountability element within the corporate governance pillar of ESG and as reflected in its 2024 Impact Report.

Digital Transformation: During the reporting period the Mint continued to implement its long-term strategic vision known as the "One Mint" Strategy; a comprehensive business process transformation, building integrated, simplified and agile processes for collaboration, continuous learning, planning and efficiency. The Mint's Privacy Office is engaged in the following activities under this umbrella:

- Information Management and Data Governance (IMDG): The Mint's Information and Data Strategy 2023-2026 represents a commitment to ensuring information is valued and an asset that is essential to the achievement of the corporation's mandate. The Information and Data Management Strategy supports the One Mint Strategy by enabling the Mint's business lines, increasing security, compliance, retention, disposition and governance of information (including personal information), and ensuring this information is appropriately accessible to employees. The Privacy Office contributed to the IMDG team's work during the reporting period by providing advice and guidance on privacy compliance with respect to the Mint's personal information holdings.
- D365: The Mint is in the process of shifting its current Enterprise Resource Planning system out of the on-premise DAX2012 environment to a secure, cloud D365 environment. The Privacy Office has been engaged to support a privacy-by-design approach and to provide advice and recommendations on issues such as testing, data migration and access management.
- Artificial Intelligence (AI): During the reporting period the Mint continued to mature the governance of AI use within the organization. As a member of both the Mint's AI Working Group and AI Council, the Privacy Office is involved in this work to highlight the intersection of AI governance and data privacy and ensure the protection of personal information in AI use.

ATIP Request Software: A key initiative within the Mint's digital transformation strategy was accomplished during the reporting period. The Mint finalized the configuration, testing and implementation for AMANDA, one of the two request processing software solutions which have been vetted and approved by the GoC.

Access Online Management Tool (AMOT): AOMT, which enables institutions to receive and deliver release packages through a secure portal rather than by email, is the primary channel by which the Mint receives requests. As an early adopter of ATIP software, the Mint will continue to support TBS when it is ready to integrate AOMT to the ATIP software solutions.

Assessing Frequently Requested Subject Matter: The Mint receives a small number of formal requests for personal information year over year. As such, no formal monitoring was needed to assess the feasibility of making that information available by other means.

VIII. SUMMARY OF KEY ISSUES AND ACTIONS TAKEN ON COMPLAINTS

No complaints were outstanding from the previous reporting period and no new complaints were received. As such, there were no active complaints as of the last day of the reporting period.

IX. MONITORING COMPLIANCE

A) Request Processing Time

ATIP Office staff meets on a weekly basis for a fulsome discussion of all ATIP-related matters including request-processing time, action items, upcoming deadlines and ongoing monitoring. Informal discussions often occur daily. The ATIP Coordinator provides briefings to the VP, General Counsel and Corporate Secretary on a weekly basis, or as required. The President & CEO receives a monthly report from the ATIP Office, which provides an overview of, and status update for, all ATIP files. The President & CEO receives in-person briefings on an as-needed basis.

B) Limiting Inter-institutional Consultations

Based on the nature of the privacy requests received by the Mint during the current and last 2 reporting periods, inter-institutional consultations have not been carried out. Further, and due to the small number of privacy requests received year over year, the ATIP Coordinator would be informed of any intention to consult and decide whether such consultation is necessary for the proper exercise of discretion or when there is an intention to disclose.

C) Contract Measures

The Mint's contracts with our vendors clearly denote that, as a federal Crown corporation, the Mint is subject to the Privacy Act. The Mint's Master Services Agreement template requires vendors to promptly support the Mint with meeting its obligations under the Privacy Act, including with the fulfillment of any requests for access to an individual's personal information.

The Mint's Privacy Office is regularly consulted as part of established process via Procurement and Legal Services with respect to the review of new or renewed third party contracts where personal information is involved. Any risks with respect to the protection of personal information or the Mint's ability for legislative and/or policy compliance are documented and presented to business owners and/or the Director of Strategic Procurement for decision. Due to the nature of the Mint's business, it uses contracts as the primary form of engagement and has fewer information sharing agreements or arrangements.

X. MATERIAL PRIVACY BREACHES

No material privacy breach occurred in the current and previous two reporting periods (and therefore no need for reporting to the Office of the Privacy Commissioner and to TBS).

XI. PRIVACY IMPACT ASSESSMENTS

In accordance with the TBS Directive on Privacy Impact Assessment, the Mint is required to conduct a PIA before proceeding with a new or substantially modified program or activity that involves personal information for administrative use(s). By identifying and assessing risks, PIAs ensure that the Mint's programs and activities are compliant with privacy requirements in accordance with the Act, are aligned with best practices for privacy protection, and are subject to the appropriate privacy risk mitigation plans. The Mint's corporate Privacy Policy makes explicit reference to the PIA requirement and assigns responsibility for funding, initiating, completing, and maintaining these risk assessments.

The PIAs closed within the reporting period are:

ATIP Software: The Mint's management of its request-processing requirements and operations under the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act has been a highly manual process. ATIP gives the right to access records of government institutions including personal information held by government institutions. To modernize and streamline its delivery of ATIP services through digitization, the Mint selected AMANDA, one of two digital ATIP solutions vetted by the GoC following a TBS-led competitive Request for Proposal process. The PIA was closed in September 2024.

Mental Health Peer Support Program (MHPSP): The MHPSP falls under the Mint's overall mental health strategy and is offered to Mint employees as a separate but complementary option to the Mint's Employee Assistance Program. The overall objective of this new program is to promote and enable a healthy and psychologically safe work environment by supporting employees with their mental health. The peer support approach leverages a trusting relationship between someone who has been living with a mental health problem/issue, directly or indirectly, and a co-worker with a similar experience. Peer Supporters receive training in first aid mental health as well as how to provide comfort, empathy, share lessons learned and direct individuals to other resources. The PIA was closed in June 2024, and a related Personal Information Bank was registered with TBS and published in the Mint's Info Source.

One PIA remained open at the end of the reporting period as follows:

Mentorship Program: In 2023, the Mint's Impact Office and the Talent Management team initiated the development of a Mentorship program aligned to the goals of the Mint's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion "All In" Action Plan. The Mentorship Program is evidence of the Mint's commitment to acquiring and retaining skills, capabilities and key competencies needed to live its values of pride and passion while achieving its business objectives. The program is expected to be launched in 2026. Mentors will be matched with mentees looking to explore, develop or advance their skills, knowledge and abilities in the context of a trusted and supportive relationship. The one-to-one mentorship will focus on growing confidence, providing skill development opportunities and facilitating connections and opportunities. The PIA will be completed next reporting period.

XII. PUBLIC INTEREST DISCLOSURES

No disclosure of personal information was made pursuant to paragraph 8(2)(m) of the Act for both the Mint and its subsidiary RCMH-MRCF Inc. during the current and previous two reporting periods.
